2 Read the article about Hampton Court Palace. Answer the questions.

People say that a great place to see ghosts is Hampton Court Palace in London. The palace is more than 500 years old, and it's famous as the home of some of the kings and queens of England in the past. It's a very large building - there are 1300 rooms! There's a kitchen for cooking food for 800 people, and a big dining room called the Great Hall. There are more than a hundred bedrooms.

Nobody lives in the palace today, but about three million people visit it each year. Many of them want to see a ghost. People say there are three ghosts from the time of King Henry VIII. The first is Jane Seymour, Henry's third and favourite wife, and mother of his only son, Edward. People say Jane sometimes walks through the palace with a light. The second ghost is Catherine Howard, Henry's fifth wife, but she loves another man. Visitors often hear Catherine crying because she doesn't want to die. The third ghost at Hampton Court is Sybil Penn – or The Grey Lady - nurse to the King's son. Visitors usually see her sitting alone in a room doing her work.
